Biographical Note

Robert G. Burkhardt was born in Chicago, Illinois in 1922. He graduated from Lane Technical High School, then attended the Illinois Institute of Technology. After completing his junior year of college, Burkhardt enlisted in the United States Navy in 1942. He then served as a machinist mate 2nd class aboard submarines in New London, Connecticut for the next three years.

Upon returning to Chicago, he completed his bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering at IIT. In 1947, Burkhardt married Hazel Ernst. After working for other engineering companies, he founded Robert G. Burkhardt & Associates, a consulting mechanical/electrical engineering firm. After attending the commissioning of the USS Chicago in 1986, Burkhardt was active in raising money for its amenities through the 721 Club, which is a part of the Union League Club of Chicago. He also served as President of the Chicago Council of the Navy League.

Burkhardt passed away April 1, 2008.

Scope and Content of the Collection

The vast majority of the Robert G. Burkhardt Collection reflects Burkhardt's interest in naval topics. This collection includes magazine and newspaper clippings, ephemera, event programs, museum pamphlets, brochures and flyers, bumper sticks, a plaque, and decorative plates among other items. Included with the donation of Burkhardt's collection were over 600 books, which have been separated from the collection, cataloged, and incorporated into PMML's library holdings.

Arrangement

The collection arrived in no discernible order and was arranged by museum staff. The collection consists of three series:

Series One: Personal and Collected Materials

The materials in this series pertain to Burkhardt's personal life. This series includes three letters, magazine and newspaper articles and clippings, event programs, postcards, government publications, and publications on the US Navy. Many items were collected by Burkhardt at events he attended, from magazines he subscribed to, or were just items of interest for him. The box labeled "Binder" contains items that were removed from a non-archival binder. The contents were kept in original order, but moved to an archival box. Also included is a packet of math problems. It has not been determined exactly how these are related to Burkhardt's collection.

Series Two: Photographs

This series contains photographs of ships and submarines, both from the United States and other countries. Many of the photographs have been dated and labeled with the name or other information about the vessel.

Series Three: Oversized Materials

The items in this series would otherwise be included in other series, but they are oversized. The vast majority of this series is magazine and newspaper articles or clippings. Also included is a set of prints produced by Texaco and blueprint plan sheets for four model airplanes.
